

SD DOC Annual Report Fiscal Year 2011

Our Mission: To protect the citizens of South Dakota by providing safe and secure facilities for juveniles and adult offenders committed to our custody by the courts, to provide effective community supervision to offenders upon their release and to utilize evidence-based practices to maximize opportunities for rehabilitation.

Our Vision: A national leader in corrections that enhances public safety by employing evidence-based practices to maximize the rehabilitation of offenders.

Our Values: We value our staff as our greatest asset.

We value a safe environment for staff and offenders.

We value community support and collaboration.

We value public trust in the operation of our department.

We value the use of evidence-based practices to maximize offender rehabilitation.

We value diversity and the respect for all individuals.

We value professionalism, teamwork and the highest standard of ethics.

We value investment in our staff through training in sound correctional practice and through the provision of opportunities for development and career advancement.

As we reflect on 2011, we need to focus on what makes the DOC a great organization; the people, our employees who are dedicated to protecting the citizens of South Dakota. With that in mind, we remember Ronald "RJ" Johnson who was murdered doing that very thing. We think of those who responded that day and understand the critical thinking of our excellent correctional officers combined with the use of technology kept Ron Johnson's murderers inside the Penitentiary.

Warden Weber and his excellent staff conducted a comprehensive review of policies and practices and made resulting adjustments and improvements. It was beneficial to have the National Institute of Corrections observe our staff in action at the Penitentiary, review our policies and procedures and affirm our After Action Plan in response to RJ's murder. I am proud our agency values on-going learning, continuous improvement and consistent effort to improve safety for staff and inmates.

In 2009, Secretary Reisch set a goal of 50% reduction in recidivism in 5 years. At the close of calendar year 2011, we will generate the 24-month recidivism rate for inmates who released in 2009 and an updated 12-month rate for those who released in 2010. I am eagerly awaiting these numbers.

On the adult side, much work has been done by Deputy Secretary Laurie Feiler, Director Ed Ligtenberg, Supervisor Doug Clark, and Coordinator Chad Straatmeyer in the areas of re-entry and recidivism reduction. Kevin McLain and his staff did a great job with our successful request for the second year of funding under the Second Chance Act grant.

If we are going to attain our recidivism reduction goal, we need consistent work to implement Evidence Based Practices in our adult system. We need a plan, based on individual needs, to give the offender the tools to be successful when he or she leaves our facilities. This is a public safety issue, not only to protect the citizens of today but also the citizens of tomorrow considering that 95% of the offenders will return to the community at some point.

We are looking forward to the opening of the Black Hills Community Transition Center (BCTC). The hard work of Secretary Reisch, Darwin Weeldreyer and many others on this project will be completed in FY 2012. This is a great looking facility and we are anxiously anticipating being able to bring offenders from the Black Hills area back for the first step in their journey home.

Kristi Bunkers, the Juvenile Corrections Agents, Jeff Haiar and the team at STAR have accomplished much in juvenile re-entry efforts. They embraced the principals of Evidence Based Practices and What Works through the Second Chance Act grant. The number of juveniles in our care continues to go down, meaning more are able to stay in the community with appropriate services.

Under the leadership of Doug Herrmann, juvenile corrections had a great year overall. There has been sustained success in reaching our recidivism reduction goal. All three juvenile programs at STAR attained Level 4 status based on the Performance-based Standards (PbS) project. South Dakota is the only state that has accomplished this in all of our programs. We are very proud of this achievement and look forward to continuing this important work.

In June, the juvenile Comprehensive Offender Management System (COMS) went live. Under the leadership and work of Kim Edson, the conversion went very well. We are looking forward to the adult system COMS implementation in the summer of 2012.

As I travel to our facilities observing what is being done, visiting with employees and talking to offenders, I see a great team striving for excellence. In the NIC review following RJ's murder, the consultants interviewed staff and inmates and asked how safe they felt. All answered they felt safe. This is, of course, as safe as you can feel considering where you are. This is a great testament to the impact of our efforts in very difficult environments.

My goals for 2012 are to continue the dedicated effort to reduce recidivism, use evidence based practices in all that we do, better intake assessments and planning for release, targeted programming and dosage to offenders, reduce the incidents of violence in our facilities and to continue to evaluate what we do and developing staff.

It has been an honor to lead this great organization since May, and as I observe the accomplishments of this past year, I look forward to the hard work ahead and DOC's ability to achieve our goals for 2012.

Correctional Officer's Farewell By Larry E. Peoples, FL DOC

We all know it can happen,
When we put our colors on,
It only takes an instant,
Then one of us is gone.

Day to Day we walk our beat,
In God we put our faith,
'Cause we're the law inside the wall,
We keep the public safe.

You've done the job that few can do,
Your shift is at an end,
Farewell my brother, Rest in Peace,
On you we could depend.

Fiscal Year 2011 Significant Events

Following the murder of SCO Ron "RJ" Johnson during a failed escape attempt by two inmates on April 12, 2011, the Department of Corrections (DOC) conducted a critical review of Penitentiary procedures, as is standard operating procedure. Gov. Dennis Daugaard directed that the review be incorporated into a more-detailed, public report. The report outlines policy and procedural modifications that have been adopted by the DOC since the incident, including:

- The addition of three correctional officers to staff posts while inmates are working in the prison industry shops;
- Installation of another 90-110 video cameras throughout the Penitentiary;
- The purchase of additional body alarms for correctional staff;
- Restrictions on foot traffic in certain areas of the Penitentiary grounds; and
- A review of inmate work assignments

The Governor also directed DOC to request technical assistance from the National Institute of Corrections (NIC) for an independent evaluation of the department's response to the incident and the state's prison policies, procedures and training. The reports can be found on the DOC website at <http://doc.sd.gov/>.

Due to flooding along the Missouri River, DOC staff members and inmates were deployed to assist with filling sandbags in Pierre, Fort Pierre, Yankton, Dakota Dunes, Chamberlain and Oacoma during state Fiscal Year 2011.

In combination with spring flooding prevention efforts near Lake Poinsett, Dell Rapid and Renner, DOC crews filled more than 1 million sandbags during 2011.

South Dakota's juvenile corrections programs established a new national standard for compliance with a project that measures conditions and treatment services provided to incarcerated youths.

All three of the reporting programs for the State Treatment and Rehabilitation (STAR) Academy near Custer have attained Level 4 status, the highest level possible, with the Performance-based Standards (PbS) project. South Dakota is the first state to have all of its facilities reach Level 4 status.

The PbS system was developed by the Council of Juvenile Correctional Administrators (CJCA) to improve conditions of confinement, services and overall operations of juvenile facilities and programs and to provide technical assistance and tools that promote public safety, offender accountability and rehabilitation that prevents future crime. Data is collected twice per year to measure safety, security, order, medical and mental health services, legal rights, programming and reintegration planning.

For the first time since South Dakota regained compliance with a federal law regarding where juvenile offenders can be housed while awaiting court action, the state reported no violations of the federal Act. In Calendar Year 2010, there were no reported violations of the Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Act (JJDP) in regard to the deinstitutionalization of status offenders, removal from jail and separation from adult offenders.

The Juvenile Division launched their portion of the new Comprehensive Offender Management System (COMS) on June 27th. The program was designed by SYSCON Justice Systems and modified to fit DOC requirements.

Fiscal Year 2011 Significant Events

The number of both adult and juvenile offenders in the state corrections system dropped during state fiscal year 2011. On June 30th, the number of state prison inmates totaled 3,445, a decrease of 21 inmates from one year earlier. The Average Daily Count (ADC) of adult inmates also dropped from 3,450 in FY 2010 to 3,434 in FY 2011. The ADC of adult male inmates decreased by 1 percent for FY 2011 from FY 2010, while the ADC for females was up 4 percent over the same time period. The department's overall ADC decreased by half of a percentage point in FY 2011. While the number of admissions due to parole violation decreased from FY 2010 to FY 2011, the number of admissions to prison due to a new conviction and the average time served prior to release from prison increased. The total in-state parole population at the end of state Fiscal Year 2011 was 2,477, up from 2,392 a year earlier. The total number on the parole caseload also was up, from 2,787 in June 2010 to 2,884 in June 2011. The ADC for parole was 2,803 in FY 2010. One year later, it had increased to 2,851.

The number of juveniles that were in the custody and care of the DOC on June 30th was 729, down 82 from the same time one year earlier. That includes a drop of 14 juveniles in programs at STAR Academy, 26 fewer youth in other placement and a decrease of 42 youth on aftercare. The ADC of juvenile offenders in the state system for FY 2011 was 790, a decrease of 40 from FY 2010.

Due to declining numbers and the need for budget reductions, the Admissions Unit for males at STAR Academy was closed during FY 2011. Males are now admitted into a program

Recidivism rates for both adult and juvenile offenders declined during FY 2011.

The percentage of all adult inmates that released from prison during 2009 and then returned to prison within 12 months was 28.7 percent. That's down from 31.2 percent for all released during 2008.

The percentage of juvenile offenders that were released to aftercare during 2009 and came back into the juvenile corrections system or were charged in the adult system dropped to 29.2 percent, compared to 40.5 percent in 2008.

Work progressed on renovating the former American Concrete Equipment building in Rapid City into a minimum security prison.

Phase one of the construction included renovating existing office space for Parole Services. Work on that portion of the building was completed and Parole Services moved in on March 1, 2011.

The inmate housing area in the Black Hills Correctional Transition Center is expected to be ready for occupancy in the spring of 2012.

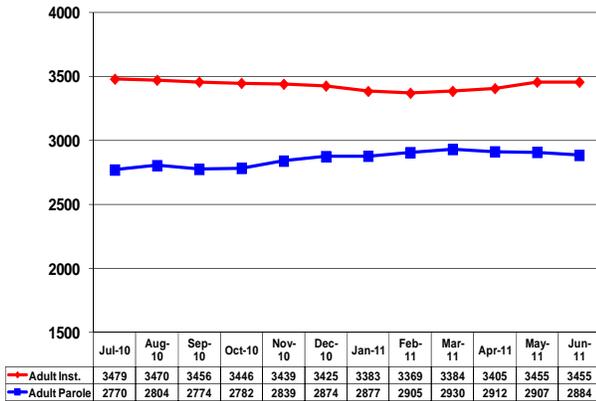

The South Dakota Board of Pardons and Paroles was selected as a Learning Site by the National Parole Resource Center (NPRC). The Board will receive technical assistance from NPRC on release and revocation decision making, as well as Parole Services receiving assistance with post-release supervision. The Learning Site initiative is a targeted and intensive technical assistance effort with a focus on using empirically-based tools to assess the risks and criminogenic needs of offenders and developing evidence-based, policy-driven decision making tools and practices.

State lawmakers gave their approval to all six of the DOC sponsored proposals during the 2011 Legislative session:

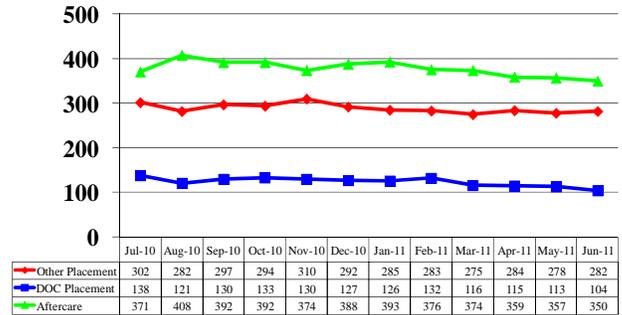

- Senate Bill 37: An Act to revise the appropriation for the construction and renovation of a combined minimum security and parole facility in Rapid City and to declare an emergency.
- House Bill 1017: An Act to authorize the release of offender photographs and physical description for purposes of victim and community notification.
- House Bill 1018: An Act to provide for a partial early final discharge from parole.
- House Bill 1019: An Act to include employees responsible for persons on supervised release and members of the Board of Pardons and Paroles in protections afforded law enforcement and judicial officers.
- House Bill 1020: An Act to repeal certain provisions regarding the disclosure of parole eligibility at sentencing.
- House Bill 1021: An Act to revise certain provisions regarding the inspection of parole files.
