Program Abstract

The State of South Dakota will utilize FY2015 Title II Formula Grant funds consistent with federal requirements. The budget is based on the FY2014 allocation of $400,000. The designated state agency, the South Dakota Department of Corrections, will ensure that subgrantees use funds consistent with Title II requirements and program purpose areas.

South Dakota will allocate funds consistent with program purpose areas: 06 Delinquency Prevention, 19 Compliance Monitoring, 20 Deinstitutionalization of Status Offenders, 21 Disproportionate Minority Contact (DMC), 24 Indian Tribe Programs, 26 Jail Removal, 27 Juvenile Justice System Improvement, 28 Planning and Administration, 31 Separation of Juveniles from Adult Inmates, and 32 State Advisory Group.

Activities that will be implemented to achieve the project goals and objectives include:

- maintaining compliance with the core requirements of the JJDP Act by assisting counties in funding alternatives to secure detention and jail;
- monitoring compliance with core requirements by inspecting facilities and collecting and verifying juvenile admission data;
- supporting DMC intervention efforts including local DMC planning and early intervention and diversion programs;
- funding Native American Tribal juvenile justice programs;
- supporting juvenile delinquency prevention projects;
- assisting with the implementation of South Dakota's juvenile justice reform, the Juvenile Justice Reinvestment Initiative (JJRI) ; and
- supporting the Council of Juvenile Services (State Supervisory Group for Title II program).

Progress toward goals and objectives will be measured through quarterly performance measure reporting. Staff of the Department of Corrections will submit required annual performance measure reports to the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention (OJJDP) through the Data Collection and Technical Assistance Tool (DCTAT) and the Grant Management System (GMS).

A. Structure and Function of Juvenile Justice System

Law Enforcement

South Dakota law enforcement consists of 71 Municipal Police Departments, 66 County Sheriff's Offices, State Law Enforcement (South Dakota Highway Patrol and the Division of Criminal Investigation), and Tribal and Federal Law Enforcement. Generally, the responsibilities of law enforcement in the juvenile justice system include investigating alleged acts committed by juveniles which may constitute delinquent or child in need of supervision (CHINS) violations, taking juveniles into temporary custody with or without court involvement, transporting juveniles to court hearings if they have been held in temporary custody pending court action, and responding to child protection issues including investigations of abuse or neglect and enforcing protection orders.

Juvenile Detention and Other Pretrial Programs

Counties are authorized by state law to operate juvenile detention centers, enter into compacts with other counties for detention operation, and contract for detention or shelter care services. There are two regional detention centers in South Dakota: the Minnehaha County Juvenile Detention Center (Sioux Falls) and the Western South Dakota Juvenile Services Center (Rapid City). There are seven additional county operated detention centers in South Dakota located in Brown, Beadle, Codington, Day, Hughes, Roberts, and Walworth Counties. Licensed group care and residential treatment centers provide non-secure custody services for counties on a fee for service basis.

Courts System

Prosecution- The State's Attorney is responsible for representing the state in all abuse and neglect, CHINS, or delinquency proceedings and are responsible for conducting preliminary juvenile investigations, determining whether a petition shall be filed, and representing the state in all juvenile proceedings. The federal government has concurrent jurisdiction with tribal courts for felony prosecutions of crimes, committed by Native Americans, on the nine Native American reservations in South Dakota.

Judiciary - The circuit courts are the general trial courts of the Unified Judicial System (UJS). These courts have original jurisdiction in all civil and criminal cases. They are the only courts that can try and determine criminal felony cases, civil cases that involve more than ten thousand dollars in damages, and appeals from magistrate court decisions.

(Source: UJS website) The circuit courts of South Dakota have exclusive civil jurisdiction over juvenile proceedings. The 66 counties in South Dakota form seven judicial circuits with forty-one circuit judges.

Court Services Officers - Court Service Officers conduct pre-dispositional reports, pre-sentence investigations, and recommend to the sentencing judge plans for dealing with juvenile and adult offenders who may be placed on probation. The officers also provide in-state probation supervision, interstate compact supervision, counseling, and/or community referral services to those placed on probation.

Department of Corrections

The Department of Corrections, or DOC, provides out-of-home placement and aftercare services for CHINS and delinquents committed to their care. Once juveniles complete their program and are recommended for release, they are placed under the aftercare supervision of a Juvenile Corrections Agent. The child, the child's parent or custodian, and the child's Juvenile Corrections Agent sign an aftercare contract. Revocation of the child's aftercare may take place through an administrative due process procedure that is utilized to determine if the child violated the conditions of the aftercare contract.

Community-based Services

The Department of Social Services, Division of Behavioral Health consists of prevention services, community based outpatient services, inpatient chemical dependency, psychiatric hospitalization and services for offenders incarcerated in state correctional facilities to best support and strengthen children and adults with behavioral health needs. In order to highlight the importance of prevention and early intervention, a separate prevention program was also created.

A flow chart of the Juvenile Justice System along with South Dakota's Juvenile Code can be found in Appendix A.

B. Analysis of Juvenile Crime Problems

Arrest

Arrest data is published by the Statistical Analysis Center of the Attorney General's Office. The 2013 Crime in South Dakota Report includes adult and juvenile arrests reported by 116 law enforcement agencies which is a participation rate of 95%.

Under the current reporting practices there are two categories of arrests. Both incidents and arrests are reported for Group A offenses. Only arrests are reported for Group B offenses. In 2013, 41,798 Group A Offenses were reported by local law enforcement agencies which is a decrease of 0.36% from the 41,949 Group A Offenses in 2012. Group B Offenses for 2013 totaled 21,534 which is a 4.79% increase from the 20,550 Group Be Offenses reported in 2012.

In 2013, there were 6,265 Group A offenses committed by juveniles. The most common Group A offenses for juveniles were drug/narcotic violations, larceny, simple assault, shoplifting, and destruction/damage/vandalism of property. There were 2,848 Group B juvenile arrests in 2013. The most common Group B offenses that juveniles were arrested for were liquor law violations.

The following table outlines 2013 juvenile arrests based on one offense per incident.

NOTE: Data associated with years 2009 – 2012 has been updated from previous submissions of South Dakota's 3-Year Plan and Plan Updates in an effort to be consistent with other arrest publications.

The following chart shows an overall decrease in arrests, specifically under the other offenses and property crime categories. Since 2009, arrests for crimes against persons decreased the least with a decrease of 18%. Drug offenses have increased 33% since 2009 but have decreased 9% since 2012. Alcohol offenses have decreased 32% since 2009 but increased 20% since 2012.

Juvenile Court Referrals

The number of juvenile referrals represents the number of youth less than eighteen years of age referred to the Unified Judicial System (UJS) by the state's attorney. Based on information obtained from the S.D. Kids Count Factbook, statewide adjudicatory actions decreased 33.58% since a peak of 6,491 actions in state fiscal year (SFY) 2008 and there was a 55.55% decrease in non-adjudicatory actions during that same time period. The overall activity decreased by 39.29% between SFY 2008 and SFY 2014. It should be noted that non-adjudicatory actions are actually higher than indicated in the table as some diversion programs operated by states attorneys are not included in the non-adjudicatory actions below.

Unified Judicial System

The following table reflects the Court Service activities from SFY 2010 to SFY 2014. It should be noted that diversion numbers indicated in the table do not include some diversions made directly by states attorneys. These diversions have increased because of the availability of Juvenile Accountability Block Grant (JABG) funds that are frequently used to operate Teen Courts and other diversion programs.

The following table provides Court Services activity information for SFY2014 by Circuit Court. The majority of probationary activities occur within the Second and Seventh Circuits. South Dakota's two largest cities and the only metropolitan statistical areas, Sioux Falls (Minnehaha County) and Rapid City (Pennington County), are located in the Second and Seventh Circuits, respectively. Once again, the diversion services numbers appear to be under reported due to some diversion programs operating outside of the formal juvenile court system.

Diversion Programs

In addition to court initiated diversion, the state's attorney can also initiate diversions and operate diversion programs. These programs operate in order to reduce the number of first time offenders exposed to the juvenile court system, assess and provide services to meet the needs of these offenders and their families, and hold juveniles accountable for their actions. Options available for diversion include:

- Community Service hours
- Essays and reports
- Restrictions (curfew, contact with peers, driver's license, etc.)
- Educational classes
- Restitution

The following is a summary of diversion and teen court programs. Please note that the data may not include all diversion programs utilized by state's attorneys in the listed locations.

Native American participants were the largest number of participants with 786 juveniles making up 46.7% of those served. Status offenses account for 70.7% of offenses while delinquent offenses account for 29.3%. For those programs that successful completions are reported, South Dakota's diversion programs have a successful completion rate (juvenile complete the program requirements) of 85.4%.

Juvenile Offenders in Detention and Jails

A significant amount of progress has been made in meeting the Formula Grant Program compliance requirements since compliance legislation went into effect on July 1, 2003.

The following information represents the changes from 2002 to 2013.

* Data Projected from July through December 2003 admission.
 Rates per 100,000 population under 18. Population determined by OJJDP

Between 2002 and 2004, there was a 92.2% decrease in Deinstitutionalization of Status Offenders (DSO) violations, a 98.3% decrease in Jail Removal violations, and an 88.9% decrease in Sight and Sound Separation violations. Since South Dakota began working towards compliance, a few incidences of violations have occurred which are typically addressed through advocacy, education of staff, and ensuring that cases have appropriate screenings completed prior to admission.

The following chart displays the significant decrease in detention numbers of both male and female youth and delinquent and status offenders since the beginning of implementing the Annie E. Casey Foundation's Juvenile Alternatives to Detention Initiative (JDAI) in 2011.

The graph also shows that status and females offenders have consistently been placed in detention at a lower rate than male and delinquent offenders.

In 2011, South Dakota had 3,130 juvenile admissions to juvenile detention centers. In 2012 this number slightly decreased to 2,775 and then continued to decrease to 1,718 in 2013. This represents a 45% decrease from 2011-2012. The number status offenders admitted to detention has decreased 68.07% since South Dakota's renewed participation in 2004.

Adult Jails and Lockups

Since coming into compliance with the JJDPA, admissions to jails in South Dakota have significantly decreased. Prior to coming into compliance, there were 291 Jail Removal violations and nine Separation of Juveniles from Adult Offender violations in 2002.

South Dakota has been able to report zero violations under Jail Removal and Separation of Juveniles from Adult Offenders since 2009 due to educating county jails regarding the appropriate holding of juveniles in adult jails or where adult offenders may be present.

Reporting zero violations reflects South Dakota's appropriate use of the six hour Jail Removal exception and adherence to Sight and Sound requirements.

Other Information Relevant to Delinquency Prevention Programming

Department of Corrections New Commitments - Judges may commit a youth to the Department of Corrections (DOC) as a disposition for adjudication as a Child in Need of Supervision (CHINS) or a delinquent child. Upon commitment, the DOC places the youth in a facility or program that meets the needs of that specific juvenile. These needs are fulfilled through juvenile correction facilities, residential treatment facilities, group care facilities, or foster care. The statewide breakdown for new commitments status, sex, age, and race for by fiscal year can be found in the following table:

The following chart shows that since 2010, there has been a decline in commitments from every race except for increases in Asian and Black youth who comprised a combined 10% of the commitment population in FY2014. The chart also contains linear lines that show the rate of decline in commitment is greater for white youth than Native American youth.

In FY 2014, DOC data reflects 240 new juvenile commitments. Of these commitments, 90.3% of juveniles are committed for delinquent behavior; 80.2% were male; 17.6% of juveniles were young offenders (14 and under); 37.1% were Native American; and all other minority races make up 12.9%.

The overall commitment rate in South Dakota is 11.54 per 10,000 youth in the population. The largest number of new commitments in FY 2014 to the Department of Corrections came from Minnehaha (60 commitments) and Pennington (36 commitments). Population data from OJJDP's Easy Access to Juvenile Populations 2013 Report was used to compute commitment rates for each county. The highest overall commitment rate is found in Charles Mix County with a rate of 47.86 commitments per 10,000 juveniles (13 juvenile commitments compared to 2,716 juveniles in the population); the highest rate of commitments for CHINS in a county that had more than one commitment was also in Charles Mix County with 3 CHINS commitments (rate of 11.05 CHINS commitments per 10,000 juveniles in the population); and the highest rate of commitments for young offenders (14 years of age and under) is found in Custer County with 2 young offender commitments and 1,111 juveniles in the population that were 14 years of age or younger for a rate of 18.00 per 10,000 juveniles.

The statewide breakdown for all new commitments, CHINS commitments, and young offender (14 and under) commitments can be found by county in the following table. Please note that only counties with at least one commitment for the three year date range are displayed. The top two counties across all three years are Minnehaha and Pennington Counties followed by Brown, Codington, Charles Mix, Hughes, and Yankton Counties.

The private placement numbers include youth placed in private programs with the cost of care paid for by the Department of Corrections. Youth placed in out-of-state facilities either have severe mental health issues, require sex offender treatment, or cannot be served by an in-state facility due to the youth's needs or because no space is available in South Dakota private facilities.

Youth under the jurisdiction of the Department of Corrections are also placed in private facilities based on their eligibility for services due to mental health needs, developmental disability, or chemical dependency diagnoses.

The following graph shows the average daily population by placement type. The three categories of Other Placement, DOC Run Programs, and Aftercare have significantly decreased since 2004 with Aftercare consistently being the largest placement category.

South Dakota's Juvenile Incarceration Rate - The following information is from OJJDP's Census of Juveniles in Residential Placement: 1997-2011 which describes the number of juveniles and the rate of incarceration per 100,000. The count for this census was done on October 26, 2011.

South Dakota had 429 juveniles in placement on October 26, 2011. Of these juveniles 306 were male (71%) and 123 were female (29%). This equates to a placement rate of 492 per 100,000 juveniles held in residential facilities that were between 10 and 17 years of age. South Dakota had the highest juvenile incarceration rate (575/100,000) in the United States with a rate nearly 2.6 times higher than the national placement rate in 2010. In 2011, South Dakota dropped to second behind the District of Columbia and was 2.5 times higher than the national placement rate of 196 per 100,000 juveniles.

Although South Dakota's number of juvenile offenders decreased 26.8% between the census in 2006 and the census completed in 2011, from 672 to 492 per 100,000, South Dakota once again has one of the highest incarceration rates in the nation. It is also important to note that only three jurisdictions (District of Columbia, South Dakota, and Wyoming) and had rates greater than 400 while seven jurisdictions had rates less than 100 (Massachusetts, Mississippi, New Hampshire, Connecticut, Hawaii, North Carolina, and Vermont).

Juvenile Justice Reinvestment Initiative (JJRI) – South Dakota's high incarceration rate demonstrated a need for juvenile justice reform activities. South Dakota's reform, the JJRI, was established after deep analysis of youth within the South Dakota juvenile justice system. The following chart shows that more than a quarter of commitments to the DOC are probation violators and that nearly half of the commitments are for misdemeanor and CHINS offenses.

The JJRI Work Group found that while juvenile commitments to the DOC have decreased 20 percent since 2004, the average time spent out-of-home during commitment has increased. On average, youth discharged from DOC in 2013 had spent 29 months in some combination of out-of-home placement and aftercare which is 16 percent longer than youth discharged in 2007. The average time spent out-of-home during a DOC commitment increased 27 percent since 2007 to 15.3 months in 2013. The JJRI Work Group also found that new admissions to probation have decreased by 24 percent in the last the ten years but the time spent on probation has increased from 6.3 months to 8.4 months since 2005. (Source: Juvenile Justice Reinvestment Initiative Work Group Final Report)

Additional information concerning JJRI can be found in the “Coordination of State Efforts” section of this comprehensive 3-Year Plan.

Education - Based on the collection information from the South Dakota Department of Education, statistics show that there are a variety of educational attainment gaps they related to the advantages and disadvantages of youth in South Dakota. Substance Abuse - Juveniles in South Dakota that are in need of inpatient services are admitted to state accredited drug and alcohol treatment programs which are overseen by the South Dakota Department of Social Services, Division Correctional Behavioral Health. According to information submitted from the department for the 2013 South Dakota Kids Count Factbook, 1,083 youth were admitted to drug or alcohol treatment programs during SFY 2013. Of these admissions, the primary drug used was marijuana (54.7%) followed by alcohol (39.2%).

In addition to accrediting facilities, the South Dakota Department of Social Services Behavioral Health Division, along with the Department of Education and the Department of Health support the biennially administered Youth Risk Behavior Survey. This survey is used to track health-risk behaviors in youth that result in the greatest amount of morbidity, mortality, and social problems. The following table outlines the questions as they pertain to violence and drug and alcohol use among youth in South Dakota.

The Correctional Behavioral Health program within the Department of Corrections provides the substance abuse and mental health programming at the Department of Corrections' State Treatment and Rehabilitation (STAR) Academy. The FY2014 diagnostic data for youth placed at STAR Academy reveals that substance and alcohol abuse are significant issues for youth in the juvenile justice system.

Of the 258 assessments completed for males in FY2014, 164 (64%) had a dependence diagnosis of dependency and 49 (19%) had an abuse diagnosis. Of the 56 assessments completed for females, 45 (80%) had a dependence diagnosis and 3 (5%) had an abuse diagnosis. Marijuana was the drug of choice followed by alcohol.

Tribes - There are nine federally recognized Native American Tribes in South Dakota. The nine federally recognized tribes are listed below:

- Cheyenne River Sioux Tribe
- Crow Creek Sioux Tribe
- Flandreau Santee Sioux Tribe
- Lower Brule Sioux Tribe
- Oglala Sioux Tribe (Pine Ridge)
- Rosebud Sioux Tribe
- Sisseton-Wahpeton Sioux Oyate
- Standing Rock Sioux Tribe
- Yankton Sioux Tribe

Tribal Law Enforcement Functions - According to information prepared by South Dakota Voices for Children, five of the Tribes provide their own law enforcement with the remaining tribes having their law enforcement agency operated by the Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA). (Source: South Dakota Tribal Juvenile Justice Directory)

Provide Own Law Enforcement	BIA Contracted Law Enforcement
Cheyenne River Sioux Tribe	Crow Creek Sioux Tribe
Flandreau Santee Sioux Tribe	Lower Brule Sioux Tribe
Oglala Sioux Tribe (Pine Ridge)	Standing Rock Sioux Tribe
Rosebud Sioux Tribe	Yankton Sioux Tribe
Sisseton-Wahpeton Sioux Oyate

Tribal Juvenile Detention - Many Tribes in South Dakota do not have the need or the capacity to run a full time juvenile detention facility. Those Tribes that do not have full-time detention facilities contract with other Tribes or county facilities to hold their juvenile offenders. Those Tribes that run their own facility include:

- Cheyenne River Sioux Tribe
- Rosebud Sioux Tribe
- Lower Brule Sioux Tribe
- Oglala Sioux Tribe

Tribal Juvenile Justice Needs - Based on the funding of Native American Programs during SFY 2014, the applying Tribes were required to identify the greatest needs of their juvenile justice system.

Based on the information submitted within the applications, the greatest need identified was a lack of resources dedicated to the juvenile court system and culturally appropriate ways of teaching youth on probation values and traditions. Due to lack of funding resources, Tribes have not been able to provide the services of a probation officer or court services officer to oversee youth sentenced to probation or provide programming for youth on probation.

Analysis of Data

- Juvenile arrests for status offenders decreased by 42% between 2009 and 2013
- Overall juvenile court actions decreased by 39% between 2008 and 2014
- Status offenders admitted to detention decreased by 68% since South Dakota renewed participation in 2004
- New juvenile commitments to the Department of Corrections decreased by 32% between 2010 and 2014 but the average time spent out-of-home during commitment has increased
- Minority youth, especially Native American Youth, continue to be overrepresented in the juvenile justice system.
- Incarceration rate is the second highest in the nation as of the 2011 Census of Juveniles in Residential Placement.
 - Since the census, South Dakota has worked to implement alternatives to detention and begin statewide juvenile justice reform to aid in reducing the incarceration rate.

Rural Areas - South Dakota is a predominantly rural state with 56.4% of the entire population residing outside of a Metropolitan Statistical Area. Although there are many needs throughout the state relating to the juvenile justice system, the Council of Juvenile Services continues to provide funding to help relieve the financial burden of the counties associated with bringing the state into compliance with the core requirements under the JJDPA.

Gender-Specific Services - The Council of Juvenile Services and the Department of Corrections will promote sex-specific and gender appropriate programming to be considered by subgrant applicants, especially those applying to implement delinquency prevention programming. South Dakota is unable to limit awards based on sex-specific services due to the rural nature of the state, small subgrant award amounts, and small populations being served prior to restrictions based on the sex of a child. Sex-specific data is also monitored and reported for compliance, commitment to the Department of Corrections, and juvenile community corrections caseloads.

Mental Health Services - The Council of Juvenile Services has committed to funding delinquency prevention programming and is currently in the pilot stage of implementation. The Department of Corrections along with current delinquency prevention subgrants have contracted with a local provider to develop a screening tool which will include a mental health component to ensure that juveniles in the system who most require mental health services will receive them.

Youth and Family Involvement – The Council of Juvenile Services and the Department of Corrections understand the importance of involving youth and families to attain positive outcomes for youth through analyses of problem areas, development of solutions, and assessment of results. The Council of Juvenile Services and the Department of Corrections will continue to enhance the engagement of youth and families through having youth members on the Council of Juvenile Services, encouraging prevention and family focused services, and having all meetings open to the public with notification of the meeting agenda released to media entities prior to the meeting. The Department of Corrections will also schedule at least one Council of Juvenile Services meeting a year at a youth correctional, detention, or residential treatment facility to allow an opportunity for members to interact with youth.

C. State Priority Juvenile Justice Needs/Problem Statements

South Dakota's Council of Juvenile Services has developed and adopted the following core values that it plans to use as a guide for purposes of future juvenile justice planning and development within the state:

- All children and adolescents shall receive developmentally and culturally appropriate services.
- All children shall have the same access to needed services regardless of income, geography, race, or jurisdiction.
- All children shall have the right to be safe in the community in which they live.
- All children shall receive evidence-based services consistent with the needs of the child in the least restrictive community-based environment available.
- All children, parents, communities, and the juvenile justice system shall demonstrate accountability in the development and provision of services for youth.
- All children shall receive early intervention services that are evidence-based.
- All children shall receive services that are family-based and family-centered.
- All children shall receive culturally appropriate justice which is essential to effectively address Disproportionate Minority Contact.
- All children shall have access to early and effective legal representation, including an assessment of competence and a timely and just legal process.

Problem Statements

The Council identified the following problems, in order of priority, to be addressed through formula grant funds and activities during the period covered by this program plan (2015-2017):

- Monitoring and maintaining compliance with deinstitutionalization of status offenders, jail removal, and sight and sound separation requirements of the Act, as amended, is critical for continued juvenile justice system improvement.
 - Supporting qualitative information is located in the section “Analysis of Juvenile Crime Problems and Juvenile Justice Needs” of this comprehensive 3-Year Plan and the section “Plan for Compliance With the First Three Core Requirements of the JJDP Act and the State’s Compliance Monitoring Plan” which is submitted separately from this comprehensive 3-Year Plan to the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention.
 - Associated with the program purpose areas of Compliance Monitoring, Deinstitutionalization of Status Offenders, Jail Removal, and Separation.
- Disproportionate Minority Contact – Minority youth are over-represented at most stages of South Dakota’s juvenile justice system.
 - Supporting qualitative information is located in the section “Analysis of Juvenile Crime Problems and Juvenile Justice Needs” of this comprehensive 3-Year Plan and in the section “Plan for Compliance with the Disproportionate Minority Contact Core Requirement” which is submitted separately from this comprehensive 3-Year Plan to the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention.
 - Associated with the DMC program purpose area.
- The Native American Tribal juvenile justice systems have a critical lack of basic resources to address the needs of youth coming before the Tribal courts, thus compromising due process and outcomes.
 - Supporting qualitative information is located in the section “Analysis of Juvenile Crime Problems and Juvenile Justice Needs” of this comprehensive 3-Year Plan.
 - Associated with Indian Tribal Programs program purpose area and Native American Pass-Through dollars.

- While local substance abuse and suicide prevention programming exists, there is no system of delinquency prevention programming in South Dakota. Prevention programming, specifically in a school setting, is needed to address the increasing number of delinquent arrests.
 - Supporting qualitative information is located in the section “Analysis of Juvenile Crime Problems and Juvenile Justice Needs” of this comprehensive 3-Year Plan.
 - Associated with the program area of Delinquency Prevention.
- South Dakota’s high incarceration rate of detention per capita demonstrates a need to support juvenile justice reform activities. There is a need to support expansion of diversion programming and performance measurement associated with the State’s juvenile justice reform initiative.
 - Supporting qualitative information is located in the sections “Analysis of Juvenile Crime Problems and Juvenile Justice Needs” and “Coordination of State Efforts” of this comprehensive 3-Year Plan.
 - Associated with the program area of Juvenile Justice System Improvement.

D. Coordination of State Efforts

Overview of State Efforts

South Dakota has streamlined and improved its juvenile justice system over the past decade. New commitments to the Department of Corrections (DOC) have fallen 20 percent and probation admissions are down 24 percent since 2004. The three-year juvenile recidivism rate has come down from 53 percent in 2005 to 45 percent in 2010. However, South Dakota still has one of the highest incarceration rates in the nation which needed to be addressed.

In June 2014, South Dakota began to study the juvenile justice system and develop policy recommendations to increase public safety by improving outcomes for youth and families regarding juvenile recidivism, effectively holding juvenile offenders more accountable, and reducing juvenile justice costs by investing in proven community-based practices and reserving residential facilities for serious offenders.

The Juvenile Justice Reinvestment Initiative Work Group was formed to conduct extensive analysis of data and engage juvenile justice stakeholders across the state to recommend policies to address juvenile justice reform. The work group's analysis of juvenile populations in the custody of the DOC and under the supervision of the Unified Judicial System (UJS) led to a set of key findings that were subsequently used to develop policy recommendations. The work group found that:

- (1) pre-court diversion is used inconsistently across the state,
- (2) most DOC commitments are for misdemeanor offenses, CHINS violations, and probation violations,
- (3) fewer youth are being committed to DOC, but they are staying longer,
- (4) admissions to probation are declining but increasingly lower risk,
- (5) length of probation supervision is increasing, and
- (6) evidence-based interventions for juvenile offenders are not sufficiently available in the community.

The findings by the work group led to Senate Bill No. 73, an Act to improve public safety regarding juvenile justice. SB 73 outlined policy changes to improve the juvenile justice system in South Dakota by focusing residential placements on youth who are a public safety risk, preventing deeper involvement in the juvenile justice system, improving outcomes by expanding access to evidence-based interventions in the community, and ensuring quality and sustainability of reforms. (Juvenile Justice Reinvestment Initiative Work Group Final Report)

Senate Bill No. 73 was passed in the 2015 Legislative Session with implementation of the reform beginning in state fiscal year (SFY) 2016.

In addition to the recent focus on statewide juvenile justice reform, the South Dakota Department of Social Services, Division of Behavioral Health had previously established numerous programs throughout the state that focus on prevention and treatment for juveniles. These programs include the following:

- South Dakota Community Coalitions
- Prevention Resource Centers
- Diversion Programs
- Early Intervention Services
- School Based Prevention Programming
- Suicide Prevention

These prevention efforts are still in place and have ties to South Dakota's Formula Grant funds through delinquency prevention subgrants.

South Dakota is also embarking on the statewide implementation of the Juvenile Detention Alternatives Initiative. Since 2011, two jurisdictions in the State of South Dakota, Minnehaha County and Pennington County, have been implementing the Annie E. Casey Foundation's Juvenile Detention Alternatives Initiative (JDAI) which began under the direction of South Dakota's State Advisory Group, the Governor's Council of Juvenile Services. Since that time, both jurisdictions have experienced a decrease in the detention population without compromising public safety, an increase in the alternative to detention programming options, a more streamlined case process, and have formed a collaborative work group that oversees the implementation. In July of 2013, the direction of the JDAI transitioned from the Governor's Council of Juvenile Services to the Unified Judicial System (UJS) to take the initiative to scale in South Dakota. A statewide coordinator, who works within the Trial Court Services Department in the State Court Administrator's Office, was hired to manage the expansion throughout the State. A statewide steering committee was formed which consists of key stakeholders from across the state to help guide the expansion process.

Juvenile justice work funded through this award compliments statewide efforts to best serve the juveniles of South Dakota. Over the course of this 3-year plan, South Dakota's awards will continue to support evidence-based interventions through the program area of delinquency prevention, which partners nicely with the Division of Behavioral Health's focus on prevention. The awards will also continue to support American Indian Programs and encourage the Tribes of South Dakota to align their efforts with the goals of South Dakota's statewide reform to prevent deeper involvement for youth in the juvenile justice system without compromising public safety. South Dakota's Disproportionate Minority Contact (DMC) subgrants will continue to work to address DMC in South Dakota's largest two communities and compliment the strong JDAI foundation which has been established in those two communities. South Dakota's commitment to maintain compliance with the core requirements of Sight and Sound Separation, Deinstitutionalization of Status Offenders, and Jail Removal will ensure that reform is being carried out consistent with the core requirements especially when more youth may be held in detention to avoid a longer stay in a juvenile correctional setting. Finally, South Dakota's SAG will continue to lead our Formula Grant efforts with the state's reform efforts in its forefront. Several of the SAG members were on the Juvenile Justice Reinvestment Initiative Work Group and are connected with statewide prevention and JDAI efforts which keep the SAG updated on the status of reform efforts as members continue to be active in implementation efforts. Formula grant staff has been assigned to assist with various aspects of implementation of juvenile justice reform initiatives.

State Agency Partnerships

South Dakota's state agency, the DOC, has shown a strong commitment to partner with non-justice system agencies and other stakeholders who have a vested interest in or influence to enhance, leverage and expand the work in the juvenile justice arena. The DOC has reached out to community coalitions to lead delinquency prevention efforts, will work with diversion providers to assist in implementing South Dakota's Juvenile Justice Reinvestment Initiative with the focus on evidence-based practices, and encourages community partnerships with the DMC and American Indian Program subgrant programs.

South Dakota's JDAI implementation also ensures that non-justice system agencies and vested stakeholders are involved through steering committees on the local and state levels which started under the staff support of the DOC prior to the redirection under the UJS to take the initiative to scale.

The DOC also provides staff support to South Dakota's SAG which is made up of vested stakeholders from both the community and unites of government to best determine how Formula Grant funds should be allocated to better the youth in South Dakota.

Challenges and Plans to Improve Coordination and Joint Decision Making

Coordination and joint decision making is currently taking place to begin statewide juvenile justice reform and to continue to implement prevention and JADI efforts. The most foreseeable challenge is the tracking of an individual through multiple stages of the justice system and being able to share data across jurisdictions. Joint decision making will continue between stakeholders throughout the justice system if challenges arise with implementation of statewide efforts.

H. Collecting and Sharing Juvenile Justice Information

Efforts for Statewide Information Sharing

In an effort to be consistent with information already published, project staff extensively utilizes existing summary data as provided by the various state agencies' fiscal year reports. Summary information is accessed from the Departments of Education, Human Services, and Social Services.

Arrest information is collected by the Attorney General's Division of Criminal Investigation to complete their Annual Crime in South Dakota Report and specific data runs are completed for project staff upon request.

Court data consists of information from the Unified Judicial System's annual report. For the purposes of DMC and Compliance Monitoring, court data also consists of summary data obtained from an annual computer download of the Unified Judicial System's juvenile data system and access to the juvenile data system for compliance data verification.

Project staff collects juvenile specific secure custody admission data from South Dakota jails and juvenile detention and corrections facilities. This admission data is utilized for compliance monitoring and DMC identification and monitoring. Detention admission data is also compiled and shared with detention facilities and South Dakota's JDAI Statewide Coordinator.

Detailed Department of Corrections' juvenile data is readily available for use.

Kids Count Factbook is an annual publication completed on a statewide basis, and funded through the Annie E. Casey Foundation. Departments throughout the state report information for this publication.

Barriers to Information Sharing

South Dakota has encountered many barriers in the collection of information of juvenile justice data. Major barriers that have been identified include:

- Juvenile Matching – Due to the separate juvenile systems and process for assigning identification numbers, many juvenile records are not able to be matched across agencies in order to track juveniles through the justice system.
- While detention admission data is available, juvenile specific screening and temporary custody information is not available electronically on a statewide basis. This makes it difficult to identify the number and demographics of youth being diverted from secure custody and how many of the youth are repeatedly being taken into temporary custody and how many are first time offenders.
- There is an inconsistency in what data is collected. Many departments collect basic data while not documenting other important demographic components.
- There is a lack of law enforcement, detention and Tribal Court data available from the Native American Tribes.

FY15 Formula Grant Application
Budget Narrative

The budget allocations to program areas and the narratives providing an explication of funds are the same for all three years of this comprehensive 3-Year Plan

Delinquency Prevention ($150,000):

South Dakota's SAG committed to move forward with awarding juvenile delinquency prevention subgrants in the Fall of 2013. Funds allocated to Delinquency Prevention will be used to support three juvenile delinquency prevention subgrants at $50,000 each.

Compliance Monitoring ($20,000):

Funds allocated to this program area will be used to cover the cost of a part-time compliance monitoring position at $20,000 for salary and benefits. Funds under this program area may also be used to cover part of an intern's salary under a time study process.

Deinstitutionalization of Status Offenders (DSO) ($20,000):

Funds allocated to DSO are used to support a statewide county reimbursement program to partially reimburse expenses incurred by counties in complying with the DSO requirement. The allocation amount is based on historical expenses and the goal of decreasing dependency on the program to encourage counties to sustain DSO compliance efforts on a local level.

Disproportionate Minority Contact (DMC) ($75,000):

The DMC allocation will support a part-time DMC coordinator position at $15,000 for salary and benefits and DMC intervention subgrants in Minnehaha and Pennington Counties at $30,000 per site.

Indian Tribal Programs ($60,000):

It is anticipated that three subgrants at $20,000 each will be made to Native American Tribes to support juvenile justice system improvement activities. This allocation contains the anticipated minimum allocation of $34,004 required to be spent under the FFY2015 Native American Pass-Through.

Jail Removal ($20,000):

Funds allocated to the jail removal program area are used to support a statewide county reimbursement program to partially reimburse expenses incurred by counties in complying with this requirement. The allocation amount is based on historical expenses and the goal of decreasing dependency on the program to encourage counties to sustain jail removal compliance efforts on a local level.

Juvenile Justice System Improvement ($10,000):

Funds allocated to the juvenile justice system improvement program area will be used to support South Dakota's Juvenile Justice Reinvestment Initiative by paying for staff time to implement components associated with diversion and performance measures.

Planning and Administration ($20,000 fed/ $20,000 state match):

The federally required planning and administration allocation will cover the cost salary of the full-time Juvenile Justice Specialist and will also be used to cover time devoted to the formula grant project by the Director of Grants and Research. Other planning and administration expenses incurred by the Department such as travel, computer fees and equipment, and space allocations will also be charged here. All costs and expenses covered by the planning and administration allocation will be paid 50% federal and 50% state match.

Separation of Juveniles from Adult Inmates ($10,000):

Funds allocated to the jail removal program area are used to support a statewide county reimbursement program to partially reimburse expenses incurred by counties in complying with this requirement. The allocation amount is based on historical expenses and the goal of decreasing dependency on the program to encourage counties to sustain separation compliance efforts on a local level.

State Advisory Group Allocation (SAG) ($15,000):

The federally required SAG allocation will be used to cover the cost of Council of Juvenile Services meetings and support any subcommittees or subgroups of the Council. The cost is lower than the allowed allocation due to holding a portion of the meetings through video conferencing to save on cost and travel time.

Supplanting Prohibition: Federal Funds will be used to supplement existing funds for program activities and will not replace or supplant non-Federal funds that have been appropriated for the same purposes.

Lobbying Prohibition: Federal Funds will not be used, either directly or indirectly, to support the enactment, repeals, modification or adoption of any law, regulation, or policy, at any level of government, without the express approval by the Office of Justice Programs.

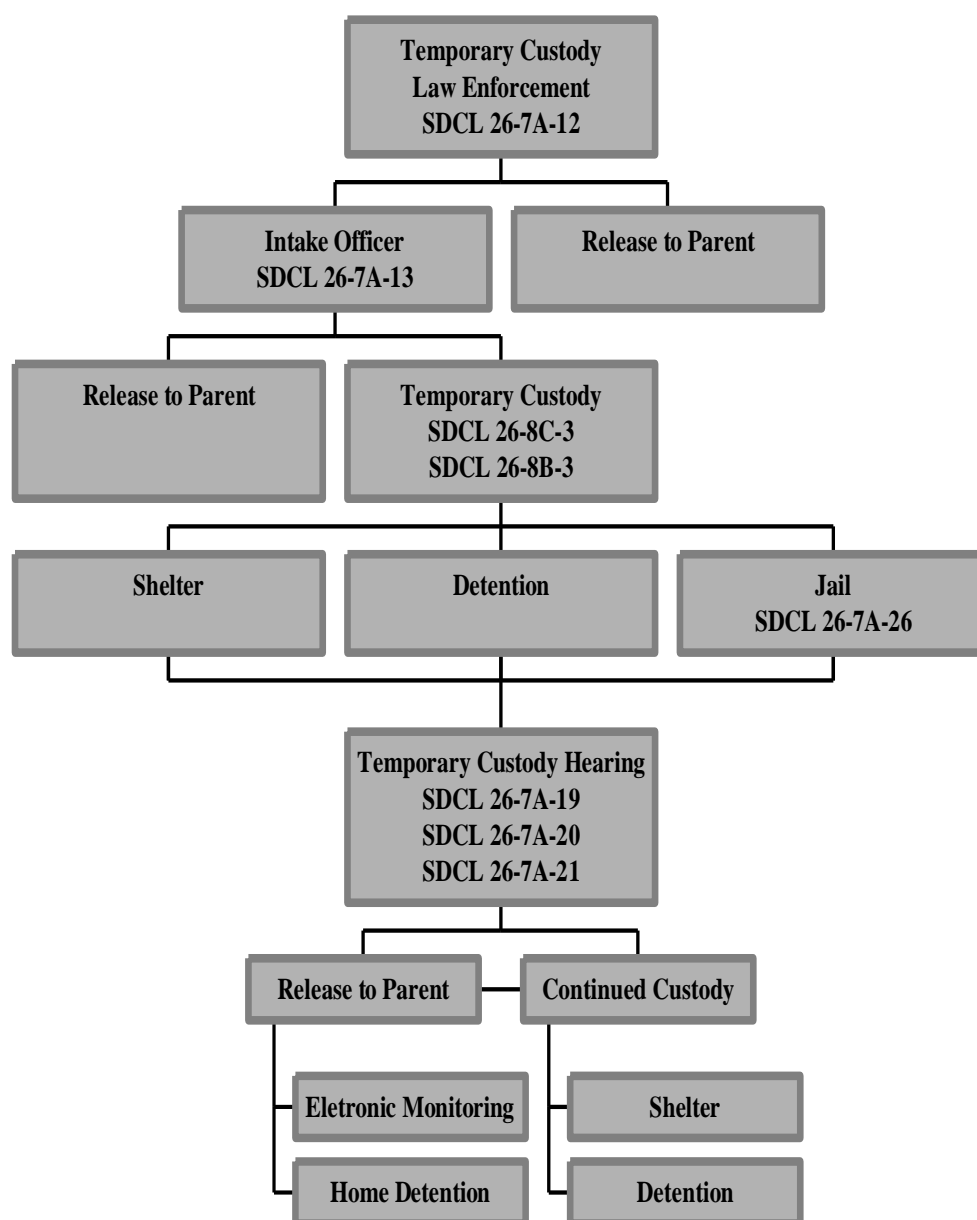

Subgrant Award Assurances: Pursuant to Section 223(a)(21)(A) and (B) of the JJDP Act, South Dakota will to the greatest extent practicable, give priority in funding to evidence-based programs and activities. In the application process, the Council of Juvenile Services will require programs and activities that are evidence-based to indicate this status. The application packet will contain information on OJJDP's Model Programs Guide and Database to assist potential applicants in the development of their program. Applicants will be encouraged to use the database to locate evidence-based juvenile justice strategies that will fit their needs and enhance their likelihood for success. Subgrants will be awarded for no more than twelve months at any given time, but subgrantees will be given the opportunity to re-apply if funding is available. This would ensure that only those programs that are successful and achieved substantial success in meeting the goals specified in their original subgrant applications are being funded. Subgrant success would be analyzed through quarterly performance reports, site visits and the reimbursement process.

Performance Measures Data: Staff of the Formula Grants Program understands that performance measures will be required for successful applicants. Staff will track and work with subgrantees to ensure that performance is monitored and traced as appropriate for the individual programs.
