IV PROCEDURES

1. Overview:

- A. At the time an offender is added to the DOC system in the Comprehensive Offender Management System (COMS), a corrections analyst will perform a comprehensive evaluation of the sentence(s) ordered, by reviewing the judgment of conviction to ensure time computation reflects the correct sentence for the offender. Each Offender's sentences will be computed pursuant to statute and policy.
- B. If there are any discrepancies on the judgment and conviction received by the court, the corrections analyst will contact the courts for clarification. The analyst, until clarification is obtained from the courts, will make no determination of eligibility dates for parole or discharge.
- C. All judgments of convictions received from the courts will have two (2) separate time computation audits completed. Once these audits are completed notice will be sent to the orientation units.
- D. Upon receipt of an amended or additional judgment of conviction, a corrections analyst will perform a comprehensive evaluation of the offenders' sentencing records for the current booking to ensure sentences are computed as ordered by the court, according to statute and policy.

- F. In all calculations, compliance with the sentencing court’s orders will be of high consideration. When conflict exists between two statutes, corrections analysts will make every effort to harmonize the conflicting statutes. The sentencing court will be contacted to correct or clarify any questionable materials.
