Minimum-security inmate Lyle Iron Horn walked away from his community service job in Lemmon, SD on April 21, 2016. Iron Horn is housed at the Rapid City Community Work Center, but was working in Lemmon for his community service employer at the time he walked away.

Iron Horn, age 35, is a Native American male with black hair and brown eyes. He is 5-foot-6 and weighs approximately 210 pounds. He is currently serving time out of Pennington County for vehicular battery, third degree simple assault and eluding a police officer. Additional information is available on the Offender Locator at <http://doc.sd.gov/>.

Anyone who sees Iron Horn or knows of his whereabouts should contact law enforcement immediately.

There are more than 450 minimum-security inmates working on community service projects across the state. Community Work Centers house minimum-security inmates and parolees in the Community Transition Program.

Our mission is to protect the citizens of South Dakota by providing safe and secure facilities for juvenile and adult offenders committed to our custody by the courts. To provide effective community supervision to offenders upon their release and to utilize evidence-based practices to maximize opportunities for rehabilitation.
